

CARPATHIAN ACTIVITY IS WATCHED IN WEST ZONES

Comparative Inactivity Along the Western Fronts Would Indicate That Armies Await Trend of Events in East.

ITALY AND HER POSITION

STILL QUESTIONABLE

Dutch Government Goes After Berlin on Account of Sinking of Ships Belonging to Hollanders; Protests Made.

LONDON, Mar. 26.—Comparative inactivity along the whole western front leads to the belief in military circles of London, that both armies are waiting the turn to move in the Carpathians before attempting to strike a hard blow. The British are still waiting on the victory at Neuve Chapelle, a victory which cost them almost as heavily in men, as it did the Germans.

The Germans are thought to be massing troops for a French offensive. It is understood it will be comparable to their rush last fall. Inactivity is expressed by some military observers that the fall of Przemysl will exert an immediate influence on the warfare in the Carpathians, but an optimistic British press, in using meagre dispatches relative to the Russian victory at Tarnopol Pass as a basis, says the Austrian right has been turned and that evacuation of Czernowitz is imminent.

Germany is declared to be sending vast reinforcements into the Carpathians. The newspapers deem it not illogical to conclude that this fighting at the gateway to Hungary is having, or will have, a marked influence on the German campaign in the east and west.

Rumors of an approaching intervention by Italy, coupled with assertions that Austro-German troops are massing along the Italian frontier, continue to be prominently hinted but the foundation in fact for them is difficult to find.

The situation in the Dardanelles so far as known, remains unchanged. The Admiralty has vetoed the confirmation of the report that the undisputed Queen Elizabeth, and other ships, among them the battleship Triumph, which recently bombarded Smyrna, have entered the straits. There are reports from allied sources to the effect that German officers are leaving Constantinople and that the situation in the Ottoman capital is gloomy, but there is nothing official to show that the Turks are at all discouraged over the outlook.

Editorials in Dutch newspapers are more positive than usual in attitude against the sinking of the Dutch steamer Medon, off Beatty Head by a German submarine. A dispatch from the Hague says the cabinet in council considered the question of damage being done to Dutch shipping and that there is also other conferences among the government officials. The Dutch government has already sent to Berlin a protest against an alleged attack by a German aeroplane on the Dutch steamer Zevenbergen.

VON BUELOW AND ITALY

ROME, Mar. 26.—Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, pertinaciously continues his efforts to adjust the differences of Italy and Austria, notwithstanding almost insurmountable obstacles encountered. He is now endeavoring to present the matter in a somewhat different and more comprehensive way. He seeks to convince Italy and Austria they should not disregard the broader question of policy, and that her mutual self interest, on account of possible misunderstandings of the moment, according to authoritative information today.

BOMBS IN METZ

BERLIN, Mar. 26.—"Several hostile airplanes dropped bombs on the southern part of Metz today," says the official statement tonight. "They were driven away by our artillery fire. Three soldiers were killed but no material damage was done."

DENIALS ARE MADE

Telephone and telegraphic information, received by the Review last night from Nogales and Naco, said in emphatic terms that there was no truth in the report that rioting had occurred in Hermosillo, nor was there any danger of Maytorena being overthrown.

The information also contradicted the reports that there had been fights south of Naco. A band of marauders, presumably from the United States, sneaked across the line at an early hour Thursday evening and burned a small bridge between Naco and Cananea. This was repaired, and most have accounted for the reports of battles and skirmishes printed in The press.

The Cabral rumor, according to information reaching Bisbee, is the result of a disordered and feeble imagination brought about by a lack of knowledge of facts and a wild desire to fill space.

A fund of $15,000 was raised by the delegates to maintain the association's work. El Paso was chosen for the next convention in January, 1916.

Six more states made a tentative agreement for a federation of protection against the invasion of western ranges by the foot and mouth disease; Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho and Utah. Yesterday Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas made similar agreement.

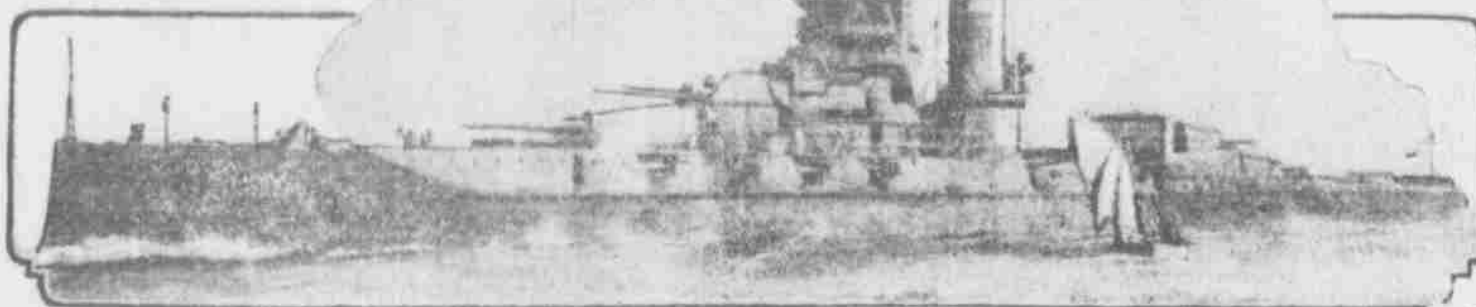

The agreement, which extends its provisions to Wyoming and Montana, which were not represented in the negotiations, provides that no cattle, sheep, swine or other ruminant animals be permitted to enter any of the states agreeing except from the twelve states mentioned until June 30, 1915. Neither the agreement nor the day between the states for the one yesterday by four states can be of force unless adopted by the various sanitary boards of the states and proclaimed by the governors. Agreements were made by representatives of sanitary boards of the states. California was represented by the state veterinarian, Chas. Ream; Utah by Inspector A. Carrington Young; Nevada by W. M. Mack; Oregon by the state veterinarian, A. H. Lytle; Washington by its commissioner of agriculture, H. T. Graves; Idaho by J. O. Rhoades, official representative.

Dr. B. H. Hicks of the Bureau of Animal Industry, addressed the association on "foot and mouth epidemic." The government's fight against the disease was traced from the beginning of August, 1914, near Niles, Michigan, to apparently a successful conclusion. He said but a few infected herd remain, only three west of Pennsylvania, two in Wisconsin and one in Kansas.

"We believe it unsafe the experiment or trifle with this disease one minute longer than necessary," he said. "We are willing for the people

KURDS THREATEN UPRISING; FEAR SAFETY OF MANY

Secretary Bryan Receives Word That Turkey Will Send Troops to Spot in Endeavor to Relieve Bad Situation.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26.—Aberdeen reports of atrocities, including the burning of sixty men taken from the French mission, and five from the American mission, composing at Gulpashan, Persia, stirred the State Department to further efforts to obtain protection for American missionaries and refugees in the vicinity of Urumiah, Persia, where an uprising of Kurds threatens a general Christian massacre.

Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, has been appealed to twice by Bryan in the last few days to urge the Turkish government to send protection to the imperiled section. It was learned tonight that the State Department had received definite assurances from the Turkish government that this would be done. British and American authorities also appealed to Russian commanders near Tiflis to send soldiers. It is said the Russian generals are awaiting orders.

In view of the present efforts of the American government to have the Turkish troops sent to the region, it is regarded probable here no further effort will be made to get aid from Russia. It is suggested also that consuls at Tabriz were cautious in get-

GREAT NEWS FOR THE DISTRICT IN ANNOUNCEMENT

Three Hundred Men Will Be Put to Work at Shattuck Within Ten Days. Full Production Will Be Resumed.

In ten days Shattuck-Arizona will take the lead of Arizona copper producing concerns and resume work on a normal basis. This morning the work of assembling a crew will be started and within the next week the full force will be back at work on the Hill.

The above announcement was made yesterday afternoon at the local offices of the Shattuck-Arizona Mining Company and is the best piece of news that has come to the Warren District in many months. It signifies the return of confidence, not only to the producers, but to the people and business of the District and County.

The resumption of work at Shattuck will add approximately three hundred men. The mine has been shut down with only development going on since October 1, last. One shipment has been at a standstill since that time and from August 8 to October 1 the shipments of ore only amounted to 400 tons daily.

Full work and full crews will mean that eight cars of rich ore will be shipped out of the District daily to the Culm and Arizona smelter in Douglas. It will mean that 300 or more men will be hard at work. It will mean that the aggregate pay roll of the District will be materially increased and the moral effect will be enormous.

The first shipment of ore is expected to be made next Tuesday and will be about four cars. Arrangements must be made at the smelter to handle the ore and this will take several days to make the adjustments.

WHAT ARE BEER TABLETS?

PHOENIX, Mar. 26.—Attorney-general Jones has been asked if condensed beer making tablets can be used under the Arizona prohibition laws. He will answer the query next week.

These troops into the district for fear their coming might precipitate a massacre. The State Department received an official notice tonight of the destruction and outrages at Gulpashan as reported to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions at New York from native Christians at Tiflis. Bryan received an appeal from the Presbyterian board during the day, urging him to do everything possible to relieve the situation.

Grace Bowles and Alston Curtin, photographed on eloping journey.

Thoroughly displeased at the prospect of single life, Alston Curtin, sixteen, and Grace Bowles, fifteen, both of Washington, eloped to New York last week. Their happiness was short lived, for in the latter city Mrs. Helen J. Adams, an agent of the Travelers' Aid Society, espied them as soon as they got off the train and got them to tell her their story. As soon as she learned the facts she had them taken in hand by the Children's Society, which detained them until their parents arrived to take them home.

HOPE GOES OF FINDING LIFE ON BOARD THE U. S. DIVER

F-4 Is Found in Fifty Fathoms of Water; All Efforts to Raise the Submarine With Grappling Hooks Fail.

OFFICERS GIVE UP HOPE OF FINDING LIFE ABOARD

Naval Tender, Alert, Comes to Spot With Cranes and Hoped to Be Able to Get the Underwater Boat to Surface.

BONHAY, March 26.—The United States submarine, F-4, lay on the ocean floor, disabled, tonight, while three hundred feet above her a score of vessels combined in a strenuous effort to bring her to the surface. When cables from the naval tug, Navajo, were first made fast to the heavy mass which afterwards proved to be the F-4, it was thought possible to tow her in about seven days if it could be an easy matter to raise her.

Shortly before five this afternoon, however, this plan was abandoned, owing to the slowness of towing operations. An aeroplane was sent to the naval tender, Alert, which is equipped with heavy cranes and tackle adapted to such work of rescue. The Alert arrived at the scene of operations before dark and then began the final stage of work which officials declared would result in raising the damaged submarine.

Whether life will remain in any of the company of persons who have been submerged since early yesterday will not be known until the vessel is brought to the surface, but the authorities were practically given up hope. However, resuscitating apparatus has been dispatched from Pearl Harbor and every effort will be made to develop any speck of life which may remain. Vessels in the vicinity which are equipped with submarine signal apparatus will continue to send out signals, but no answer has come. The interned German steamer Pommer is active in this way.

The general opinion is that the vessel's plates must have sprung through the immense pressure of water at the depth of fifty fathoms, and that the two officers and eleven enlisted men aboard perished.

It was first definitely established that the heavy bulk encountered at three this afternoon by the grappling hooks of the naval tug Navajo was the missing submarine, when the fastened flaps at one of her hatches were discovered 30 feet beneath the surface. At once the vessel which had been dragging other parts of the locality with grappling and heavy chains, assembled and awaited in towing which preceded until the time when it was deemed advisable to adopt the plan of raising her by cranes.

Those who took soundings after the submarine was observed, expressed the opinion that the vessel was resting on its even keel and was right side up. Oil slicks were still rising to the surface. Earlier in the afternoon army engineers, who have been working on various localities, suggested a search in a new spot. Diving bells and other equipment were sent to this spot to renew the search. The new efforts were rewarded in finding the boat. At six tonight the F-4 had been below for thirty-three hours.
